Zebraish Official Collaboration Agreement

VERSION

v1.1 — 16 August 2026

This handbook explains Zebraish and how the collaboration works in plain language. It is a reference, not a contract — where anything here and the Official Collaboration Agreement differ, the Agreement controls.

WELCOME TO ZEBRAISH

Christian — welcome. You're joining Zebraish as its Official Collaboration Partner, and this handbook is here to make sure you know exactly what that means before you sign anything. It covers who Zebraish is, what your role involves day to day, how you get paid, and what to expect over your first three months.

Zebraish is a brand and project built around two connected doors into the same world. The first door is technology — Zebraish Studio and The Board — where products and ideas get built and shipped. This is what's live right now, and it's what Zebraish is launching with. The second door is creative — Zebraish Fashion — apparel and style built around a distinct, animal-inspired aesthetic. It's coming soon, but the product line isn't public yet. Both doors share one identity and one brand. Growing one grows the other.

Zebraish is early-stage. It is not yet a registered company — Joshua is building it in his personal capacity for now, and your Agreement reflects that honestly rather than pretending otherwise. That also means you're joining at a stage where your voice and your reach make an outsized difference.

YOUR ROLE: STUDIO FIRST, FASHION NEXT

Right now, your job is Zebraish Studio. Zebraish is starting with Studio, so your immediate focus is representing it, building awareness for it, and actively bringing in customers for it — that's the priority for this Term.

You don't need to be a technical person to do this well. Your audience trusts you, and that's the asset that matters here — point people toward Zebraish Studio, explain what it does in plain terms, and make the introduction. You represent the brand publicly through your own presence and content, and you actively help bring in the people who'll become Zebraish's actual clients.

Fashion joins your role once the clothing line actually launches, which is coming soon. When it does, it'll likely be an even more natural fit for you given your background as a model and influencer — but the work starts with Studio, not Fashion.

Formally, your position is Zebraish Official Collaboration Partner. It's a non-exclusive role — you can keep working with, promoting, or representing other brands during your Term, as long as it doesn't conflict with your Zebraish obligations.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Social media. The minimum weekly cadence is:

- two (2) Instagram feed posts and/or Reels;
- three (3) Instagram Stories; and
- one (1) TikTok video.

On top of that: reshare official Zebraish campaigns when reasonably asked, tag official Zebraish accounts, use designated campaign hashtags, and take part in product and campaign launches. These minimums can be adjusted by written agreement between you and Joshua at any point — they're not locked in stone, just a clear baseline.

Content standards. Anything you post about Zebraish should:

- be original to you or properly authorized for use;
- represent Zebraish accurately;
- avoid false or misleading claims about the brand, products, or services; and
- follow whatever campaign guidelines Joshua gives you in advance for a specific push.

Outreach. This is the part that's easy to underweight and shouldn't be — proactively identifying and approaching potential Zebraish Studio clients within your own network and audience is core to the role right now, not an optional extra. Anyone who could use what Studio builds is worth a conversation. Direct messages, in-person introductions, social engagement — whatever channel fits the person you're talking to. Represent the offering accurately, then point interested people to Joshua directly, or to the Zebraish Project & Payment Portal once it's live, so a project gets opened properly.

HOW COMMISSION & PAYMENTS WORK

This is the part most collaborations get wrong by overcomplicating, so here it is as simply as possible: there's no referral code, no personal link, and no need to prove a specific customer came from you. You earn 10% of every qualifying payment Zebraish receives during your Term — full stop.

A payment qualifies if it's received from a client during your active Term and it isn't a refund, chargeback, cancellation, or fraudulent transaction. If a client pays in installments, only the portion actually received during your Term counts.

Payout happens weekly, every Sunday. Joshua totals all qualifying payments Zebraish received Monday through Sunday, calculates 10% of that total, and sends it to you by bank transfer — same day, or the next business day if a Sunday transfer isn't possible for reasons outside his control.

Worked example:

Say Zebraish receives ■185,000, ■60,000, and ■240,000 in qualifying payments over a given week — ■485,000 total. Your commission for that week is $\text{■485,000} \times 10\% = \text{■48,500}$, paid that Sunday.

There's no fixed salary and no cap on what you can earn — compensation is commission-based for the Initial Term, with no ceiling on the upside.

THE PROJECT PORTAL & YOUR DASHBOARD

Two tools are being built to support this. The Zebraish Project & Payment Portal is where client projects get opened and paid for — each one gets a unique Project ID (for example, ZB-00017). The Collaborator Dashboard is your private view into the weekly commission calculation: Project IDs, payment amounts, and PAID / PENDING status, without any client contact details exposed to you.

Until both are fully live, the same information reaches you as a written weekly summary from Joshua — the underlying commission math doesn't change either way.

BRAND GUIDELINES & PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

A short, practical list:

- represent Zebraish positively and professionally, always;
- never imply you're an owner, director, or officer of Zebraish;

- don't make unauthorized promises or commitments on Zebraish's behalf;
- keep confidential information confidential (see Section 7); and
- get written approval from Joshua before committing Zebraish to any paid advertising, sponsorship, or paid partnership spend — see Section 8.

CONTENT, INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY & CONFIDENTIALITY

You keep full ownership of your own identity, image, and likeness — that never transfers to Zebraish. What you grant is a non-exclusive license for Zebraish to use approved content (photos, videos, your name) for promotional purposes on Instagram, TikTok, the Zebraish website, and in Zebraish advertising.

That license runs during your Term, plus six (6) months after it ends — solely for archival, portfolio, and historical-campaign purposes, not new campaigns. Organic posts you made during the Term don't need to come down.

In the other direction: anything non-public Joshua shares with you about Zebraish — upcoming products, pricing, strategy, client information, unreleased campaigns, commission data — stays confidential, both during and after your Term.

PAID ADVERTISING

If paid ads or boosted posts make sense for a campaign, Joshua funds that spend directly and confirms the budget and channels with you in writing before anything is committed. You never commit Zebraish's money to advertising, sponsorships, or paid partnerships without his prior written approval — anything spent without that approval is on you, not reimbursed.

TERM, REVIEWS & HOW IT ENDS

Your Initial Term is three (3) months from the date you both sign, and it only renews by mutual written agreement — otherwise it ends automatically at the three-month mark. Once a month, you and Joshua will hold a short, informal review — a call or a message is enough — covering content delivered, client introductions, commission for the month, and anything worth adjusting.

Either of you can end the collaboration for any reason with fourteen (14) days' written notice. Immediate termination is reserved for serious situations — fraud, serious misconduct, deliberate reputational harm, misuse of confidential information, or an unremedied material breach. Commission already earned on qualifying payments received before termination stays payable either way.

WHERE ZEBRAISH IS RIGHT NOW

Worth being upfront about: Zebraish Studio is the current priority — it's what the business is starting with, and it's where your outreach and content should point for now. Zebraish Fashion's branded apparel is coming soon, but hasn't launched yet. Once it does, your role scales up to include it — product-related duties, including receiving Zebraish product yourself, ramp up as that line becomes available.
